Monique Methot and Kristy Harcourt, from The Today Centre in Edmonton, will be addressing our community's service providers to deliver:

- an overview of domestic violence
- understanding how family violence impacts 2SLGBTQ+ people and how we can improve service delivery
- how to respond to domestic violence in the workplace

Although domestic violence may not be recognized by some employers or workers as a workplace hazard, it can interfere with the victim at work and impact a workplace – and employers should address this issue.
